Foreign Intervention.

LONDON, November 3.—A special telegram from Berlin says the Northern powers have invited Austria as the one most interested to frame a proposition for a guarantee to be demanded and the control to be exercised to ensure the performance of the Sultan's promise of reform to the insurgents in his vassal States. Count Andrassy is now elaborating such a proposition. It is believed the Sublime Porte will be unable to suppress the rebellion, and that the great powers will sanction the intervention of Austria next spring.

BY MAIL.

The Great Fire in Iquique.

NEW YORK, November 3.—The Panama Star and Herald of October 21, just received, has details of the great fire in Iquique, news of which has already been received by telegraph. The fire broke out in the German Club House, about two o'clock on the morning of the 7th of October, and before noon three-fourths of Iquique had vanished in smoke. Twenty-four blocks of houses, stores, banks, &c., were consumed. The merchant vessels in the harbor sent their crews on shore, and all the civilians, foreign residents, sailors, the police and the authorities struggled to subdue the flames, but in vain. Iquique was built almost entirely of wood, and the sidewalks of the same material. The ground is impregnated with nitrate, and salt water falling on the earth only served to kindle the fire hidden by the saltpetre. The fire swept like a hurricane over the city. The houses fell like pasteboard palaces. The damage done was immense. Five millions of hard dollars will not cover it, and in Iquique no insurance could be obtained from the very nature of the ground and materials employed for building purposes. The principal burnt edifices are a branch of the National Bank, the Town House, Iquique and Commercial Hotels, the house occupied by the Pacific Steam Navigation Company, and the Market Place, the favorite club house of the city. Many families are homeless.

The President of Peru ordered the authorities to use 6,000 soles for their relief. In Lima the different nationalities contributed liberally. Many merchants had taken advantage of the reduced tariff and dispatched large amounts of merchandise, nearly all of which is now destroyed, and now merchants find themselves absolutely bankrupt, their liabilities, owing to the disaster, being infinitely in excess of their assets. The warehouses in which large quantities of nitrate were stored, close to the sea, were saved, but large quantities of coal, a costly article in Iquique, were burned up.

BRUTAL ASSAULT.

A St. Louis Newspaper Reporter Attacked by a Lawyer.

ST. LOUIS, November 3.—As W. P. Smythe, one of the reporters of the Evening Dispatch, stepped out of the Criminal Court room about noon to-day, he was savagely assaulted by Presly N. Jones, of the law firm of Turner and Jones, knocked down, and severely beaten. Turner also struck him over the head several times with a heavy cane. Smythe managed to regain his feet in a few minutes and drew a pistol to defend himself, when a police officer arrived, disarmed him, arrested both Jones and Turner, and confined them in the calaboose. Subsequently a warrant charging them with assault to kill was sworn out against them, and they were sent to jail. The attack, which was totally unexpected and brutal in character, grew out of a mention in the Dispatch of the arrest a few days ago of Jones for drunkenness and some unprofessional conduct on the part of the firm.

The $6,000,000 Ring Suit.

The case against Wm. M. Tweed for the recovery of $6,000,000 has been struck from the calendar for this term, on the ground that the amended answer had been served within twenty days after the case was noticed for trial, which raises a new issue.

The "Crooked" Whisky Cases in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, November 3.—In the United States District Court to-day the argument was heard on the demurrer to ten of the fourteen counts in an indictment charging Gen. John McDonald, ex-Supervisor of Internal Revenue in this district, with possessing knowledge and information of certain violations of the internal revenue law by distillers and rectifiers here, and failing to report to superior officers, and also of conspiring with these parties to defraud the Government. The demurrer was sustained as to five counts, still leaving eight counts standing against the accused. Two new indictments were returned by the United States Grand Jury to-day against, it is alleged, two prominent citizens, charging them with connection with the whisky ring. Arrests will probably be made to-morrow.

Brigham Young.

SALT LAKE, November 3.—Brigham Young is still sick in bed at his own house in charge of a United States Deputy Marshal. It is expected that the motion to vacate the order of Judge McKean of February 25th, ordering the payment of alimony to Ann Eliza, will be argued before Chief Justice White on Saturday next. The Chief Justice was unwell to-day, and no session of the Court was held.

THE BIBLE IN THE SCHOOLS.

A School Teacher Putting Out a Catholic Priest.

Mr. Arthur Day's Experience as a Teacher in the Public School of Newtown, Conn.—A Vacilating Board of Education's Work.

Newtown, Conn., has a very large Catholic population, and though the Protestants are slightly in the majority, they are chiefly old settlers, and of the forty-seven children attending school thirty are Catholics. About two years ago the Rev. Father McCartin went from New Haven to Newton, and there found a Catholic teacher taking charge of a school. That was satisfactory to Father McCartin. Monday, October 11, was the first day of the current term, and Mr. Arthur Day, Jr., son of a New Haven Baptist minister, took charge of the school. On Wednesday, October 13, the school bell rang at the usual hour, and after the children had assembled Father McCartin entered and saluted Mr. Day. The teacher invited him to take his seat, but the clergyman declined and sat down among the children. Mr. Day read a portion of the Scriptures, and was about to begin the repetition of the Lord's prayer, but Father McCartin interrupted him to ask by what authority he read the Bible in a public school.

Mr. Day replied that he was authorized by the Board of Education to open the school as he had done, and the priest said there was no law to support him in such a course. Hot words followed, and Mr. Day says that Father McCartin called him a liar twice. Finally the clergyman addressed himself to the Roman Catholic children, and desired them to pay no attention to the Scriptures if the teacher read them in the future, but to go on with their studies, adding that if Mr. Day should punish them he would expect them to complain to him. He then went out, and Mr. Day followed him to the door and told him he was master of the school, and intended to carry it out as he had been authorized to do, and would not permit any interference. If Father McCartin interrupted the opening services again, he said, he would put him out by force if necessary.

Cessation of Hostilities.

The clergyman replied contemptuously, and Mr. Day, going back to his desk, repeated the Lord's prayer as usual. Later in the day he spoke to members of the Board of Education and to several other influential men of the district, and was encouraged to read the Scripture and repeat the Lord's prayer on opening the schools. In the evening he called on Father McCartin and told him what had been said in relation to the reading the Bible. The father, Mr. Day says, seemed to acquiesce, and said he would not interfere again. There was no further trouble that week, and on Saturday, October 15, the Board of Education passed the following:

Resolved, That it is perfectly proper for any teacher of a public school in this town to open school by reading the Bible without note or comment, and to preserve order while exercising such right. Any interference therewith would be an intrusion.

On Friday, October 22, when Mr. Day was about to open school, he noticed that the shutters had been opened in the night by cutting away the fastenings, and that his Bible had been stolen from his desk. He sent to the house, procured another book and read a portion of Scripture as usual. That evening the leaves of the stolen Bible were found scattered along the road near his house.

On Monday last a climax was reached. When Mr. Day arrived at the school house he noticed that the children in the play ground were not playing together as usual. The Catholics had separated from the Protestants and were playing alone. When they entered the school house the former at once began to study, paying no attention to the Scripture which Mr. Day was reading. The teacher desired them to lay aside their books, and they asked leave to withdraw. Mr. Day told them they could go if they wished, but that all who remained must attend to the opening services. All the Catholic children then went out, and the school was opened in the ordinary way.

A Tussle.

Soon afterward Father McCartin entered with the Catholic children. After they had taken their seats he told them, as before, that when the Bible was read in their hearing they must pay no attention to it, but go on with their studies. Mr. Day said he would not allow any man to interfere with his conduct of the school as authorized by the Board of Education; therefore he desired Father McCartin to go out of the room. The Father continued to speak to the children without seeming to hear the teacher. Then Mr. Day approached him and said if he did not withdraw he would eject him forcibly.

Father McCartin is a large, powerful Irishman, about thirty-five years of age; Mr. Day a somewhat delicate and comparatively small New Englander, much younger. Hence, when the priest defied the teacher to lay hands upon him, few of the students doubted what the result of a personal encounter would be. Nothing daunted by the physical advantages of his opponent, however, Mr. Day proceeded to put his threat into execution.

Father McCartin struck at his assailant as he approached, but dexterously stopping the blow, Mr. Day closed with him. A vigorous scuffle ensued in the school room, the children looking on appalled. The schoolmaster forced the priest toward the door, and with a sudden and unexpected exertion of strength thrust him down the steps. Father McCartin fell, spliting his trousers at the knees, tearing his clerical coat, and besoiling his person generally in Newtown dust.

The spectacle of the fallen clergyman demoralized the children of both persuasions. The door was occupied by the combatants, so taking the only means of egress left to them, they escaped through the windows and fled to their homes.

Renewing the Struggle.

But Father McCartin was not conquered. He arose infuriated and again attacked the teacher. The latter thrust him back, and at that moment several stalwart supporters of the clergyman arrived, with the evident intention of wreaking vengeance upon Mr. Day. The teacher was in a critical position, but he was not discouraged. He told them that he had only asserted his undoubted right, and that they would get into trouble if they molested him. In short, he "held the foe at play" until a party of his own friends arrived. Then the combat was with some difficulty prevented from becoming general. At last the rival factions dispersed, but the school was closed that day, for the children could not be induced to return.

On Tuesday morning a mob collected around the school house, and at first hindered Mr. Day from opening it. Mr. Diteman, the school "committee," seeing the state of affairs, went to look for the Sheriff. In his absence Mr. Day opened the door and called the children in. He proceeded to open school by reading the Bible, and insisted on every one laying aside books and attending. The demonstrations from the people outside then became so threatening that the clerk of the district, chief officer in the absence of the "committee," ordered the teacher to allow the Catholic children to pursue their studies while the Bible was being read. Mr. Day had no choice but to obey, and a resolution passed a few hours afterward by the Board of Education made the order perpetual.

Public opinion in Newtown is unquestionably in favor of Mr. Day, for though probably all the Catholics and some of the Protestants congratulate Father McCartin upon his victory, the majority of the people think that the concession wrung from the Board of Education is only preparatory to the total abolition of Bible reading in the school.

On Tuesday night, while Mr. Day was making some purchases in a store in Newtown, a mob of young men and boys collected outside and insulted him. They were driven away, but while Mr. Day was on his way homeward, he was made a target for a volley of stones.

Spinosa's Excommunication by the Jews.

[From Latouche's "Travels in Potugal."]

"We have a custom," said a Jewish gentleman to me, "that when a Jew falls away from the faith of his forefathers and openly reviles their sacred rights and customs, he is solemnly excommunicated in the synagogue. It is a thing seldom done, because it is very horrible, and because it is seldom required; but it was done in the case of Spinosa. He was brought into the synagogue, which was hung with black; lighted tapers of black wax were held in the hands of the assembled people; the Chief Rabbi pronounced a discourse, recounting Spinosa's crimes against his faith. Then all present approached the center of the synagogue, and held their tabers sideways over a large cauldron filled with blood; and which the candles slowly dripped their wax into the blood, a chant was sung in low harsh tones, reciting the curses of menagainst the infidel, and calling down upon him the vengeance of the Most High. When the chant came to an end, the tapers were suddenly extinguished in the blood, and the synagogue was filled with darkness, and there reigned the silence of the grave. It is satisfactory to reflect that Spinosa recovered some amount of cheerfulness after the performance of this horrible ceremony. Almost the only fact connected with his life that I can recollect is that, in late life, he used to derive amusement from making spiders fight together in a box; whereat, it is reported, he would laugh till the tears ran down his cheeks.

THE ELECTIONS.

The Republican Victory in Pennsylvania.

Hartranft's Majority Thus Far 17,000.

Democrats Quarreling Among Themselves as to the Cause of Their Defeat.

A Larger Republican Majority in the Kansas Legislature Than Ever.

A Republican Legislature in New Jersey.

The State Ticket in Doubt in New York.

The Republican Ticket Elected in Wisconsin.

Republican Victory in Minnesota.

PENNSYLVANIA.

PHILADELPHIA, November 3.—Monroe county gives 1,900 Democratic majority, a Democratic gain of 341.

Columbia county gives a Democratic majority of 2,150.

Montour county gives a Democratic majority of 321.

A Poor Excuse.

NEW YORK, November 3.—A special from Philadelphia says the chairman of the Democratic State Committee of Pennsylvania gives as the cause of the defeat of his party that the men in New York City who profess to be Democrats interfered in the election in Ohio, and helped to destroy their brethren of their own political creed and spread disaster among them. Had these men been true to the cause of Democracy, we could have carried the State by one hundred thousand majority.

PHILADELPHIA, November 3—11:30 P. M.—Returns received up to this hour from this State indicate that Hartranft for Governor has a majority of about 17,000.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, November 3.—Brooklyn, which gives a majority of over 6,000 for the Democratic State ticket, elects the whole Republican city ticket.

Columbia county, the home of Governor Tilden, gives a majority against his ticket.

NEW YORK, November 3.—Full and accurate returns from all the districts in this city show Bigelow's (Dem.) majority to be 28,688. Returns from various counties received to-day and to-night do not alter the apparent general result, as stated late last night and this morning, that the State ticket is in doubt, but probably Democratic by from 1,000 to 3,500 majority. It will doubtless require the official returns to decide the question.

The complexion of Brooklyn remains as last reported, with the exception that Col. Calvanagh, Independent Democrat, is reported elected to the State Senate by a full vote of his district, with thirty-six majority over Jacobs. The latter is a regular Democrat.

BUFFALO, November 3.—Full returns from this city show that the Republican State ticket has an average majority of 2,800. Becker, Republican, for Mayor, has 3,395 majority, with ten Republican and three Democratic Aldermen.

ALBANY, November 3.—The Evening Journal says the result on the State ticket is close and still a matter of doubt. Our table shows a small apparent Democratic majority. The Senate stands twenty-one Republicans and eleven Democrats. The Assembly stands seventy-five Republicans to fifty Democrats. This may be varied a little by further returns, but not materially.

NEW JERSEY.

TRENTON, N. J., November 3.—The Republicans elect five out of eight Senators chosen this year in New Jersey. Thirteen Senators hold over, and seven Republicans and six Democrats, giving the Republicans a majority of three. The Legislature stands: Senate—Twelve Republicans and nine Democrats; House—Thirty-seven Republicans and twenty-five Democrats.

MARYLAND.

BALTIMORE, November 3.—Returns from the counties to-night are still incomplete, but sufficiently full to decide the result on the State ticket and the complexion of the Legislature. Of twenty-three counties in the State, Mr. Carroll has carried ten by an aggregate majority of 3,700, and Mr. Harris ten by majorities aggregating 3,340, leaving three counties to be heard from, which cannot affect the general result. For the Senate the Democrats elected nine and the Republicans three, with two districts to be heard from. For the House the Democrats elected fifty-six and the Republicans twenty-three, with five districts to be heard from.

VIRGINIA.

RICHMOND, VA., November 3.—James McDougal, Register, and John Marxhausen, Judge at the First precinct of Jefferson ward, were arrested to-day, charged with fraud in returning the vote of their precinct, whereby, it is claimed, Knight, Independent candidate for the Senate, was beaten by Gen. Bradly T. Johnson, Conservative. James S. Morris was also arrested on a criminal charge for misleading voters. They were bailed in $5,000 each till to-morrow. If fraud at this precinct is established and the vote thrown out, Johnson will lose his election.

Full county returns show that the complexion of the Legislature will not be materially changed.

KANSAS.

ATCHISON, Ks., November 3.—The election in this county yesterday resulted in a complete Republican victory. Every candidate on the Republican county ticket was elected by majorities ranging from 135 to 600. The Republicans elect two, probably three, members of the County Board. This is the first time in many years that the Republicans in this county elected their whole county ticket.

MANHATTAN, Ks., November 3.—The Republican county ticket of this (Riley) county was elected yesterday by a large majority, but an Independent Representative to the Lower House of the Legislature was elected over the Republican candidate.

LEAVENWORTH, Ks., November 3.—The vote in this county is not yet in, but the county offices will be divided between the Democrats and Republicans. Of seven Representatives the Democrats elect four, the Republicans two and the Independents one.

ATCHISON, November 3.—In Doniphon county the Republicans elect three Representatives to the Legislature and divide the county offices with the People's party. In Nemaha county two Representatives are elected to the Legislature and the county offices are divided about equally with the candidates on the People's ticket.

FORT SCOTT, November 3.—Bourbon county elected the full Republican ticket, excepting Judge and Treasurer, and returns three members to the Legislature.

ATCHISON, Ks., November 3.—This county gives about 2,300 majority for the Constitutional amendment. Marshal elects the full Republican ticket, excepting an Independent Republican to the Legislature and Register of Deeds. Dispatches to the Champion indicate that the Legislature will be more largely Republican than last year. Probably not more than a dozen Democrats will be elected. There will be a number of Independent Republicans in that body, however.

Montgomery county has gone Democratic. Chase county elected a Republican Representative. Anderson county elected an Independent Republican. Saline, Miami, Clay and Allen send Republicans to the Legislature. Cherokee county elects a Reformer to the Legislature. Otherwise the Republican ticket is elected. Woodson county returns an Independent Republican to the Legislature. Sedgewick and Cowly counties elect the full Republican ticket.

ILLINOIS.

CHICAGO, November 3.—The latest received figures of yesterday's vote give Huck for County Treasurer 29,908, Hesing 26,414, and Keeley 8,784. These figures include all but two towns, which will give small Republican majorities. Jones, Republican, is badly defeated for County Commissioner, and Nelson by about 400 majority. All the Republican candidates are elected by majorities ranging from 3,000 to 6,000.

MISSISSIPPI.

JACKSON, November 3.—The Demcrats have elected the entire ticket in nearly every county. They have about thirty majority in the House and six or eight in the Senate. The Democrats elect the entire Congressional delegation, with the possible exception of the Sixth District, and returns indicate success in it.

MINNESOTA.

ST. PAUL, November 3.—Republican estimates show Pillsbury's (Republican) majority to be about 10,000. The Legislature will be two-thirds Republican. Pfaender, Republican, for State Treasurer, runs considerably behind his ticket, but will be elected by probably 5,000 majority.

WISCONSIN.

MILWAUKEE November 3—.Returns received at this hour (midnight) show that Ludington, Republican, is elected Governor by about four thousand. The balance of the Republican ticket is probably elected, though there is some doubt about Baetz for Treasurer.

Celebrating the Republican Victories.

NEW ORLEANS, November 3.—The militia under Gen. Campbell fired one hundred guns, by order of Gov. Kellogg, in honor of the Republican victories.

Bank Robbery in Pittston.

SCRANTON, PA., November 3.—The First National Bank of Pittston was broken into last night by a band of burglars, who entered the vault through the top, where they blew open two special safes, from which they abstracted $40,000 in bonds and money, after which they decamped. The robbers entered and departed through the roof.

THE LASH IN ENGLAND.

Three Garroters Flogged at Kirkdale Jail—How They Received the Punishment—Description of the Cat-O'-Nine-Tails.

The Liverpool Post says: "At the last Assizes in Liverpool no less than five men were convicted of garrote robberies, three of whom were ordered to receive twenty lashes each, one to receive twenty-five, and the fifth—on account of his youth, we suppose—was to have thirty strokes with the birch rod. The latter received his strokes some time ago; the man who was to get twenty-five lashes was spared the infliction on account of ill health, and the three other men duly received their score each yesterday. The hour fixed for the flogging was 11:45 o'clock. The punishment was given, as usual, in the central corridor of the prison, and in anticipation of it, all those prisoners who are in jail convicted of crimes of violence were brought out of their cells and stationed in the circular galleries above, from which they could command a full view of the flogging, the object of the visiting Justices in making this arrangement being, as before, that it might have a deterrent effect. In the meantime, the three men who were to be flogged were brought out, and each of them placed facing a wooden frame, to which he was, after taking off his upper clothing, securely fastened hand and foot. The two men, Burns and Rigby, were of comparatively small stature, but powerfully built, with plenty of muscle and sinew, and appeared to await their punishment with considerable indifference. The youth, Wafer, was the tallest of the three, but slim in body, and seemed likely to suffer the most. As on a previous occasion, when several men were flogged on one day, the arrangement was made that the punishment of the three men should take place at the same time, each man to be flogged by a separate officer, and the strokes to fall upon one prisoner at a time in succession until each had received his quota. The frames were numbered A, B and C, and as Deputy Gov. Hislop sang out A 1, B 1, C 1, and so on the lash was brought down on the men's backs and shoulders in regular order until the twenty rounds had been completed. The order in which the three men were placed formed a crescent, Burns being placed in one corner, Rigby at the other, and Wafer in the center. The man who had to administer the flogging to Burns lacked neither strength nor willingness to let the lash be felt, and Burns, although he said very little beyond giving utterance to a short exclamation during the first few strokes, and complaining that he was being struck too high—the ends of some of the tails once or twice in the beginning catching him on the neck and chest—undoubtedly suffered most. The man who flogged certainly miscalculated his distance, and hence the cause of the complaint made by Burns, who at one time shrieked out, "It's all round my neck—do you call that on my back?" Rigby endured his castigation well, and said nothing more than "Oh" once or twice, and at one time asked to be struck fair on the back. The blows in his case were more lightly laid on than in that of Burns, but they seemed to have quite as much effect, causing him to shrink and shiver a good deal. He was thankful, however, when the end came, and when the twentieth stroke fell he remarked that that was what the cobbler calls the last. Wafer was less able than either of the other two men to bear the flogging, and after the first stroke or two he began to howl and cry, and continued to do so until the end. When the three men were released their backs were in a terribly lacerated state, their right shoulders being all livid, cut and bleeding. Rigby appeared to take the matter coolly when he was being released, and turned round and laughed and grinned at the prisoners standing in the galleries above, but his bleeding back belied the genuineness of his smiles. Burns marched away seemingly unconcerned, chewing a piece of lead, or other substance, with which he fortified himself to sustain his courage before he was tied up. Wafer was a piteous-looking object, and was led away crying. The prisoners who witnessed the flogging from above did not appear to be much moved by the spectacle, with the exception of one, a youth, who was led away in an almost fainting state. The cat-o'-nine tails used on this occasion were much more formidable weapons than those heretofore employed. Formerly the "cats" were made in the prison, but yesterday whips marked with the Government stamp were brought into requisition, the handles of which are longer and thicker, and the cords longer also than the old cat-o'-nine-tails. The flogging only occupied about ten minutes.

AN ERROR CORRECTED.

The Vote of New Brighton.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

NEW BRIGHTON, PA., Nov. 3, 1875.

Your telegraphic correspondent of this morning's paper in saying that "New Brighton, Third ward, gives a Republican majority of 138, a large Republican decrease," is in error. Our majority last year for Olmstead in the borough was 66. Majority this year for Hartranft 138, a gain of 72, and in the Third ward a gain of 23. New Brighton is not behind any precinct in the county, but shows a gratifying increase. S.

—In the United States Circuit Court, at St. Louis, on Wednesday, Judge Treat, sitting in chambers, appointed Thomas T. Buikly, of New York, Oliver Garrison and James H. Beach, of St. Louis, receivers of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad.

—A desperate fight took place at London, Sumner county, Kansas, during the election on Tuesday, and Sheriff Neil, in attempting to restore order and preserve the peace, shot and instantly killed a desperado named J. H. Turner, and badly wounded two others.

—The Governor of Louisiana has signed the death warrants of six criminals convicted of murder, two in Coushatta, to be executed on Friday, November 19th, two in Monroe and two in New Orleans, to be executed on November 26th. Two of the condemned are white and four colored.

—Richard M. Hooley, the well known proprietor of Hooley's Theatre, in Chicago, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. His schedules show that his unsecured debts are about fifty thousand dollars, of which twenty thousand are due Backson & Waterman, New York, on account of a land purchase. His assets are in the theatre and land, on which is built worth about $175,000, but encumbered to the amount of over $125,000.

—Ira Holmes, formerly President of the defunct Manufacturers National Bank, of Chicago, has gone into voluntary bankruptcy. His secured liabilities are $361,000, and unsecured $112,000. His assets are unsecured notes amounting to $46,000, a large interest in the Clifton House, which, however, is mortgaged to nearly its full value, and stock of the Manufacturers National Bank worth about $12,000. His other assets consist mostly of personal property.

—The Indiana Committee on Monument, appointed at the late Soldiers' Reunion, of which General Coburn is President and Captain Harrison Secretary, held a meeting in Indianapolis on Wednesday, and resolved to go to work forthwith. Meetings have been called for the 4th of December in every county in the State, and a State Convention on December 7th, to determine the style and location of the monument, and elect directors and officers of the association.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Touch not the cup, it is death to the soul,
Many I know who have quaffed from the bowl;
Little they thought that the demon was there;
Blindly they drank and were caught in the snare.
Then of that death-dealing bowl, O beware!
Touch not the cup, touch it not!

A LITTLE German girl in a public school of this city was told to put the word year in a sentence. After a moment's reflection she answered: "Last year my sister was married; this year she has a baby."

A PROFESSOR asked his class: "What is the aurora?" A student, scratching his head, replied: "Well, professor, I did know, but I have forgotten." "Well, that is sad, very sad," rejoined the professor. "The only man in the world that ever knew has forgotten."

WHEN lovely woman, once so jolly,
Finds, late in life, that hair grows gray,
How to make her case less melancholy,
How hide Time's step that none can stay?
The only way his step to cover,
To mask her age from every eye,
And if she has a spoon for lover,
To keep him still "spoons," is—o die!

A WAG entered a smoking-car on the Central a few days ago when the train was in motion, and in an earnest and sympathetic tone said: "There's a lady in the next coach fainted away. Has any gentleman here any liquor for her?" Twenty-eight men immediately rose to their feet, each with a flask in his hand. Who says that men have no sympathy?

LOOK out for her. She is pretty, well dressed, and gentle. She asks for the lady of the house (invariably mentioning her name,) and is, of course, asked to take a seat in the parlor by the unsuspecting servant. And then she cuts off enough of the lace curtains to make a fichu or over-skirt, and silently glides away before the lady of the house has had time to come down stairs. A new trick and a clever one, when you come to think of it.

Two young men, named George Sykes and William Russell, residing in Benzinger township, Jefferson county, met a horrible death by taking an over dose of phosphorus. It seems that these young men had received a book from some miserable quack, recommending phosphorus pills as a remedy for weak nerves. They purchased one half ounce of crude phosphorus, and each of them swallowed ten or twelve grains of the fatal drug. They took the dose on Sunday about nine A. M., and did not feel any bad effects until four o'clock P. M., when they were taken with ritchings in the stomach. But on Monday morning the sufferers confessed that they had taken phosphorus, when medical aid was summoned, who did all they could to alleviate the sufferings of their patients, but without avail. Sykes expired on Monday night, and Russell lingered until Tuesday night in great agony, when he expired.

The Autumn House Cleaning.

(From the Danbury News.)

She has got on a torn dress, hitched up at one side sufficiently to reveal an unbuttoned shoe; there are flakes of whitewash in her hair and on her chin; her dress is wet, her fingers are parboiled, and her thumb has been split with a hammer, but her eye is as clear and bright as that of a major-general on field day. She picks up a handful of skirts and skims through the apartments, seeking five hundred things that should be done at once, and trying to do them and every time she comes in reach of the dresser, she snatches a look into the glass and shoves a fresh hairpin into her dilapidated coil. And thus planted in the debris, like a queen on her throne, she unblushingly asserts that "It's an awful job;" "Everything is in wretched shape;" "I'll be so glad when this is over;" "It does seem as if my back will snap in two;" "I've a good mind to say I'll never clean house again so long as I live." And then her mind unconsciously soars heavenward, and she wonders if there will be a house-cleaning season there, and if not, how a heaven can be made of it. It is this speculation which gives her that dreamy expression when she is cutting your bread with the soap-knife.

DON CARLOS is reported to be in a shooting mood. Two of his Generals are said to be the subjects of his gunpowdery desires. If statements are creditable, the shooting of the two named will serve to put a speedy end to the war—they being about the only fighting Generals he has.

WE DESIRE to be perfectly loyal to Republican principles, and are. Yet we do not see any special occasion for grief over the defeat of AMES in Mississippi. If the Democracy must shoot and murder, we prefer they should do it under a State government run by them, rather than under a weak Republican, who hasn't the nerve to do his duty like a man.

WE regret that the Mercantile Library course of lectures has not been better patronized, than it has been, thus far. It is possible that the times, and the elections have had much to do with the matter; and we trust, now that the elections are done, the attendance will be large. The lecturers are among the ablest and the best, and the course will be in every respect equal to what has been had in other years. Patronize it, and encourage those who labor in this useful field.

THE election in New Jersey represents the backset of the Democracy far better than does the result in any other State. Pennsylvania is really Republican, and the triumph of the Democracy merely represented the snatching away of the State from our control. New Jersey, on the other hand, is a Democratic State, and has been carried by majorities as high as 17,000. Last year Judge BEDLE received some 14,000 majority for Governor. Now the State is carried by the Republicans, who have a good working majority in the Legislature.

THE severe fight made against Mr. FIFE, our candidate for the Shrievalty, makes his triumph all the more gratifying. He comes out of the contest with a majority of a thousand or more, and is thus thoroughly vindicated as against all the aspersions cast upon him. The usual attempt to levy blackmail, that is tried by impecunious journals on political candidates, did not work in his case, and hence he did not receive the support of one or two sheets that freely boast their potentiality, but can never prove it. He is elected despite their sulleness, and owes them nothing.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

While the detailed election returns are yet to come in, enough is known to state general results, and to estimate causes and lessons. Our State and County tickets are elected, and even New Jersey, and probably New York, have gone Republican. It seems quite certain that we have a majority in the New York Legislature, while some of our candidates on the State ticket have, and others have not, been elected. In New Jersey we have secured a small working majority in the Legislature, an event of great importance to us at this time. In Massachusetts we have triumphed, despite the many combinations formed. In brief, we have not only recaptured our own, but have even gone into the strongholds of the enemy, and taken away their greatest States. It is an absolute, unqualified triumph, and it only remains to note the causes.

One sapient journal, in the face of undeniable facts, presumes to say that in this State, it is a verdict of the people for hard money, and a putting aside of what it elegantly terms the "hooraws" over the School or Catholic question. A few facts will fully dissipate this bit of fancy. While the Erie platform was unqualifiedly for inflation, but a bit of palpable hypocrisy as well, the Lancaster platform was not for hard money. It taught precisely what the GAZETTE teaches, that while specie payments are to be ultimately reached, this is to be done by promoting prosperity, and not by hardening the money market. Its theory has been known to be, from the day of its utterance, that specie payments were not to be forced, but to be reached only when the natural laws of trade, and the legitimate increase of prosperity would bring them easily about. In this county, the Treasurer's Convention, the only one to declare on the subject, went farther than this, in the interest of "soft" money. Now the people must have totally disregarded these platform expressions, or have voted for precisely what they said. If the latter, they did not vote for hard money at all. The probability is, that so far as the monetary question was involved, the people took the view that, despite the Resumption act, the Republican party would not crowd specie payments, as against the prosperity of the country. But if the country can be made and kept prosperous, and specie payments brought about, this would be done. On the other hand, if specie payments cannot be reached without impairing prosperity, the time for resumption would be extended, and the prosperity and comfort of the people made the first consideration. It was this faith that was voted, and not early and enforced specie payments as an express issue.

So with reference to the school question. It did not constitute a prominent topic for discussion, during the recent canvass, yet it really contributed largely to the defeat of the Democratic ticket. It cannot be denied that the belief is widely entertained that the Catholic authorities have deliberately determined to break down our public school system, in the interest of Church schools. It is further believed that in this enterprise they have, or can have, the aid and support of the Democratic party. It is simply nonsense to talk of our Constitution prohibiting any diversion of public school funds to Catholic schools. There are instances in this Commonwealth where the demand has been made that local school funds be thus diverted. In any event, there is a quiet, but earnest and profound belief, that the Democracy and Catholics are allied for the destruction of our public school system. We have noticed that wherever the subject was mentioned during the canvass, it aroused the people far more completely than did any other topic. At the returns meeting, in Lafayette Hall, election night, when Mr. UPDEGRAFF referred to the purpose of the Republican party to maintain the sanctity of our public school system, it moved the audience to a more earnest expression of sympathy than did any other utterance made on that night. It is the live question of the near future; and contributed more largely than the Catholic Dispatch suspects to the victory on Tuesday.

The triumph was really that of the Republican party. It showed that we have only to put up honest candidates, to call forth an earnest expression of confidence from the people. We have only to keep clear of Rings and cliques, make our nominations openly and honestly, and select good, upright, sterling men, to command the confidence and votes of the public. This was done, in this State, this year. HARTRANFT, whatever his surroundings may be, has made a record as an honest, conscientious, and independent Governor. In this county, there cannot be a pretence that the ticket was not fairly nominated. In all the Conventions held, and all the movements made, it was manifest that our candidates were fairly put in nomination. They were honest, capable men, and adapted to the offices for which they were nominated. Thus the party was put in a fair position, before the people. This done, and they freely responded with a vote of confidence, given all the more cheerfully because of the adverse vote of last year. It is an endorsement worthy of being understood and heeded.

WHAT THEY SAY.

Sadness and mirth, philosophy and nonsense, clearheadedness and stupidity, are very distinguishable in the comments of the press on our election. The "Independent" press, so full of devotion to Democracy and hard money, hoped against hope, that Pennsylvania would either go Democratic, or would be Republican by a majority so small that there would be chance to speculate upon the narrow escape the shortcomings of the Republicans gave them. But the splendid majority in this State, and the Republican gains everywhere, rather stupefied them, and we have amusing results, in the form of incoherent editorials. The Philadelphia Times is first in order. It attributes to Governor HARTRANFT's personal popularity, and the lack of sense on the part of the Democracy, their defeat. We invite attention, however, to its beautiful description of the charming Democracy, which, but yesterday, it lauded so highly: "But, while Governor HARTRANFT's personal merits did much to save a debauched political leadership from a Waterloo defeat, the comedy of blunders played by his enemies with such blind, persistent awkwardness was the main element of the canvass that saved him. Madness ruled the Democracy from the day it entered upon the practical work of the contest. While its lines were diffused among the people, it was invincible for the struggle to every dispassionate mind; but when it was called into action, it came, not as an army prepared to fight a desperate battle, but as a riotous, discordant and selfish mass of hungry mendicants, who were intent only upon dividing the raiment of the people upon the mere shadow of a Democratic victory. ANTONY and CÆSAR had parties, but Democracy had none, and in bewildering confusion platforms were considered solely as clap-trap inventions to delude the people for a day, and nominations were rushed through in the midst of midnight orgies which would have shamed a crowd of average down-town Councilmen. Like the lieutenants of Alexander, when his crown awaited the succession, the leaders confused the councils of the party with the harsh jars of the conflicts of petty ambition, and there were none to rally the great mass of the people who most sincerely desired to achieve a positive triumph for reform. And from the Babel of tongues at Erie the party was flung out upon the sea of strife without rudder or compass—without organization or leadership, and doomed to wither under palpable inefficiency in every vital channel."

The New York Tribune, which rarely has more than one idea at command at a time, clings to the financial idea as the only one involved. It declares that after the Ohio election "Pennsylvania had still to speak, and we were told that in the mining districts, where the pressure of hard times was severely felt, the vote, notwithstanding the Ohio result and its prestige, would be very largely in favor of the rag-money Democracy. The event shows how woefully the rag-money men mistook the temper of the people, and the reward of their blundering and dishonesty was a loss of votes in all the districts where they counted most on gaining by the inflation cry, and in finding their only gains in those localities where the party either stuck to its hard-money traditions or ignored the question entirely. The financial question was the paramount issue in Pennsylvania, and this result, following that in Ohio, may be considered as settling it for the present."

The New York Herald is philosophical and prophetical. It declares that "a broad survey of the political field, in the light of these elections, if not necessarily discouraging to the Democrats, although it betokens a closer Presidential contest than the Democratic party would have had any reason to fear if it had kept all the States it won last year. The relapse of Massachusetts is of little consequence, Governor GASTON's election one year ago having been merely a surprising accident, of which a repetition could not have been expected in so strong a Republican State. But the loss of the two great States, Ohio and Pennsylvania, is a more serious matter. The Democrats might have entertained reasonable hopes of holding both of these States, after having once wrested them from the Republicans. But the loss of Pennsylvania and Ohio makes a great difference in the prospects of a political party whose opponents have a secure hold on a considerable number of the other States. The Republicans control States enough to enable them to elect the next President, with the aid of New York, and the result of yesterday's voting is not such as to take New York out of the list of debatable States next year. The Presidential election will be a more equal and a far more doubtful contest than if the Democratic party had continued to hold all the ground it gained in 1874."

We do not regard the Press, of Philadelphia, of late, as a paper of very special ability, but it manages to epitomize the result very excellently. It says: "Briefly, the meaning of the elections of yesterday is this: The American people, forced to decide, have determined to select the Republican party as their trustee to administer the trust of government for the next four years. They commit to our the keeping the nation, to guide and direct it according to our best judgment within certain general lines of policy, convinced of our good faith." The North American, as distinguished for ability as for devotion to Republican principles, says: "The contest has been a long and arduous one, involving the elaborate discussion of momentous issues both in the press and the forum, but it has been in many respects an interesting and profitable one to all independent and right-minded citizens, and has diffused a great deal of information on the subjects involved among all classes of people. We have always thought the masses were quite able to understand and appreciate these subjects and vote upon them if once fairly presented to them, and the result of this contest sustains that view and shows that through the influence of free schools and newspapers the people have been educated to a standard above the influence of demagogues.

The Philadelphia Ledger, which deals with election returns in the most profound and able manner, treating the occult relations of victor and vanquished with a tenderness and delicacy rarely equaled, and never excelled, offers the following words of wisdom and sympathy over our triumph: "The victors of yesterday will, of course, be rejoicing to-day. This is the natural order of events, but the vanquished will have the consolation of knowing that neither the city, nor the State, nor the country will be half so badly ruined as some of their imaginative spokesmen during the canvass seemed to think." This, however, is not the brightest gem from the Ledger on the result. Its poetic muse was in splendid mood, and, after surveying tenderly the corpse of the dead Democracy, it broke forth in the following beautiful and touching refrain. The expression "her," as applied to the Democracy, will be understood to be mere poetic license:

> Affliction sore long time she bore,
>   Physicians were in vain,
> 'Till God at last did hear her moan,
>   And eased her of her pain.
> Gone to meet BILL ALLEN.

The New York Times fitly closes this list of excerpts. It grasps the situation in our view, far more completely than our journal from which we have quoted: "Last year, for the first time in eight years and the second time in eighteen years, the Democrats carried Pennsylvania by a small majority. This year the Republicans have redeemed the State by a majority much larger than the average of "off-years." In nearly every part of the State heard from up to the present writing, the Republican vote approaches closely that of 1873, and there is no doubt of Gov. HARTRANFT's re-election by from twenty thousand to twenty-five thousand. The mining counties have not responded to the disgraceful bid of the inflationists, and WILLIAM ALLEN's appeals to "second the glorious victory for the people's money in Ohio," have been in vain. The majority for HARTRANFT in Philadelphia is at least 17,000, and the returns from the counties will increase this to something like ten thousand. This may be set down as the most important result of the State elections."

He has been offered $100,000 for one Holy Family and $6,000 for another picture, but is deaf to all inducements to sell. A few moments before he died he cried out in his delirium, 'Order A. P. Hill to prepare for action! 'Pass the infantry to the front rapidly! 'Tell Major Hawks'—then stopped, leaving the sentence unfinished. Presently a smile of ineffable sweetness spread itself over his pale face, and then he said quietly, and with an expression as if of relief, 'Let us cross over the river and rest under the shade of the trees;' and then without pain or the least struggle, his spirit passed."

A DOUBLY FATAL DUEL.

Frightful Scene in a New York Tenement House.

On Tuesday afternoon, as we learn from the New York World, officers were informed that a scuffle and pistol shots had been heard in a rear room on the top floor of a tenement on Delancy street, occupied by Daniel Pearlson. Officer Henken ran to the room indicated, and, finding the door locked and bolted, burst it open and found that a man in a dying condition was kneeling with his face to the door. A little further on lay the corpse of another man. Both men were good-looking, about middle height, and darkly bearded. They had pistols in their hands, and the room bore evidence that a desperate struggle had taken place. The dying man was shot in the forehead, and a stretcher having been procured, he was removed to the Tenth precinct station house, and from thence to Bellevue Hospital, where his case was pronounced hopeless, a bullet having entered his brain.

It was sometime before Captain Ullman could learn anything about the affair; but it was ascertained that the man sent to Bellevue Hospital was Moses Piskel, a Polish Jew, of No. 19 Essex street, and that the dead man was Joseph Goldman, his partner in the jewelry business at No. 59 East Broadway, who lived at No. 100 Hester street. Pearlson, in whose room the shooting took place, went to 106 Delancey street shortly after the shooting, but he either knew nothing or did not want to say anything about the affair. He admitted that he knew Goldman and that he (Goldman) called on him yesterday and sent for Piskel. Pearlson, believing that Goldman had private business to transact with his partner, left before Piskel arrived. Mr. Kirshstein, of No. 100 Hester street, with whom Goldman lived, was sent for, and he stated that Goldman did not sleep at home Monday night. Kirshstein saw Goldman about 9 A. M. Tuesday, and he said that he had been to a wedding. Goldman went out and returned in about an hour, and shortly after went out again. This was the last Kirshstein saw of him alive. A number of persons who knew Goldman and Piskel said that their business relations were not pleasant, but could give no information in regard to the immediate causes of the quarrel which brought about the tragedy.

The police believe, from an examination of the room and the men who were shot, that in a desperate fight Goldman mortally wounded Piskel and then shot himself. The apartment consists of a dark bedroom and a living-room, both poorly but neatly furnished. Two bullet holes were in the ceiling of the living room, and a bullet had traversed one of the windows. On a bureau were two promissory note blanks. The pistols were both new, and were of the commonest that Colt & Co. manufacture. The pistol found in Goldman's hands had five chambers discharged, and that in Piskel's had three chambers discharged. The most plausible theory is that Goldman, who had had a quarrel with Piskel, sent for him in order to force him into a business arrangement and had bought the pistols to use in case of a refusal. It is believed that the promissory note blanks were to be used in case a business arrangement was effected, and that when Piskel arrived Goldman locked and bolted the door and sat down to talk business. A dispute arose and ended in Piskel refusing to accede to Goldman's terms, and finally Goldman produced the pistol, and giving one to Piskel called on him to defend himself. Although eight shots were fired only six were accounted for, namely, two in the ceiling, one through the window, one in Goldman's cheek, one in his forehead, at the junction of the eye and the nose, and one in Piskel's forehead, but the bodies of the men were not closely examined, and it is probable that either of them may have other wounds than those discovered. The upshot of the duel a mort is a mystery, although it is most probable that Goldman shot Piskel and then committed suicide. Both men were shot through the brain, and it is hardly probable that after receiving such a fatal wound either of them should have vitality enough to slay the other. Another fact that points strongly to a murder and suicide is the position in which Piskel was found.

THE SCHOOL GIRL TRAGEDY.

Main Points of the Case Against Joseph La Page.

There seems to be little doubt that in Joseph La Page, now in durance in Concord jail, the New Hampshire authorities have the perpetrator of the murder of poor Josie Langmaid, at Pembroke. The evidence against La Page is entirely of a circumstantial and inferential character. The main points in the case against him are these: On being apprehended and questioned as to his whereabouts at the time of the murder he failed satisfactorily to account for himself, and has not since made any progress in proving an alibi. There have been found on his vest and coat blood stains. The calico shirt he wore the day of the murder cannot be found. His wife said she washed and hung it out to dry, and that it was stolen from the line. A knife with a blade three inches long was found, together with two razors, one bloody, on a high shelf in his house. He says his son owns the knife, and the son says it belongs to the father. The stick that killed the girl is 3 feet and 7 inches long by 1½ inches wide and 1½ inches thick, a "dingle" wagon stick, sawed nearly square at the end. It was found near the body of the Langmaid girl, and has been identified as having been seen in La Page's possession on the Saturday before the murder. A few moments before 9 o'clock on the fatal day he was within fifty rods of the scene of murder and going toward it with an axe on his shoulder. His wife says he is a man of strong animal passions. This is otherwise shown in his talk with young men in the neighborhood, of several of whom, it has been shown, he has of late inquired concerning this, that, and the other girl, if she went to school, what time she went, what road she took; if she went alone, &c. He has been identified by several girls as a man who has chased them in the wooded roads and very much frightened them, and by one or two sportsmen, who saw him chasing a Miss Watson, being much flushed and excited at the time; also by a lady and her daughter as having waylaid them in the woods and pursued them, having a stick in his hands, the timely meeting of another man, they believe saving them from actual assault.

The statement of his wife also tends to strengthen the suspicion against him. She recounts the incident of brutal and felonious assault upon her sister in Canada some time since. He acknowledges that he was arrested for such an affair, and wonders how the officers ever heard of it, but says he was discharged, as another man was found to be guilty. In point of fact, he made an escape by assaulting the officers. He was arrested for the St. Albans murder, but discharged for want of evidence. Near the body of the Ball girl was found a face mask, the strings having what is known as a "Frenchman's knot." Over the body of Josie Langmaid were found tied together a couple of green twigs, and they were also tied with a "Frenchman's knot." When La Page assaulted his wife's sister he wore a mask. That is proved. The assault was similar in character to that made upon the Ball girl, where, as before said, a mask was used. The assault upon Josie Langmaid was also precisely similar. La Page was in the neighborhood of the scene of murders at the time they were committed. He says he didn't know the Ball girl, but it can be proved that he did. The above are the main points of the case against La Page, though of course there are numerous other corroborating circumstances, making so complete a chain of evidence that the Grand Jury found plenty of reason for indicting him.

Longevity of Veterans of 1812.

The extraordinary longevity of survivors of the war of 1812 is certainly a curious fact well worthy of notice. That was not a great war, not many troops were engaged, and no very large force was mustered into the service of the United States, and the war came to an end nearly sixty-one years ago. Yet the Commissioner of Pensions reports 15,875 survivors on the rolls of the Pension Office. Very few, indeed, of these can be less than eighty years of age, and the number must be nearly, if not quite, ten per cent. of the whole force mustered for service. If the veterans of the late war of the rebellion prove so tenacious of life, nearly two hundred thousand of them will survive in the year 1926. We should be very glad to believe that all of them would live much longer, but we can not expect it, for it is against the course of nature. It is hard to resist the conviction that a large share of the fifteen thousand veterans of 1812 are imposters.

Mr. Moody's Fast Day.

At one of the Moody and Sankey meetings in Brooklyn Mr. Moody stated that several persons asked him to appoint a day of fasting and prayer. He accordingly named Friday of next week, November 12th. Mr. Cuyler said he had received a dispatch from the Chairman of the Philadelphia Committee saying that the people of that city would join in fasting and prayer on that day. Dr. Cuyler also moved that an invitation be extended to God's people all over the country to unite in the observance of that day. Arrangements for the circulation of the invitation have been made. Those in favor of having such a day for such a day were requested to rise and sing, "Praise God, from whom all blessings flow." The entire congregation rose and sang, after which the benediction was given.

THE WARD WILL CASE.

All the Testimony Taken—The Deceased Not Always Guided by Mediums—Character of the Sons—Argument of the Counsel.

A Detroit correspondent of the New York Tribune says: At last, after six weeks of legal contest, the testimony in the Ward will case has been received, and the trial now enters upon its final stage. The proponents of the will called between forty and fifty witnesses to the stand. Most of them were leading business and professional men, and the burden of their testimony was that Capt. Ward was of perfectly sound mind, and that he exhibited the remarkable activity and clearness of intellect which had made him so successful a business man for months after the will was made and up to the day of his death. Some of these gentlemen also testified to the fact that although Capt. Wark believed in the possibility and reality of communications between the dead and the living, he was not disposed to follow implicitly advice supposed to come from the spirit land, but that, on the contrary, he frequently remarked that spirits would lie as readily as living men, and that he would rather have the advice of one business man in the flesh than of twenty spirits.

The most interesting part of the testimony for the proponents was that of Miss Emily Ward, now upward of 70 years of age. She is an elder sister of Capt. Ward. She has lived for the last eight or nine years in a fine house nearly opposite her brother's residence. This house was given to her by Capt. Ward, and it has been a sort of "city of refuge" for all the members of this unhappy family—for the imbecile first wife, after she had been divorced; for the children of that wife when they were in disgrace with their father, and for the father himself when he came to seek advice and comfort from his sister. She testified to having seen Milton Ward under the influence of liquor frequently, and to his having, once at a dinner-table, attacked his insane brother, Henry Ward, with a carving-knife. She said that both of the boys proved to be poor business men, and were very troublesome to their father. The testimony in surrebuttal, in behalf of the contestants, which has occupied most of the last week, has been mainly confined to proving that the business misfortunes of the contestants were not the result of their mismanagement. The testimony of the brothers did much to remove the unfavorable impression which the testimony of the proponents had created in regard to their character and habits. They explained some of the most damaging testimony against them, so that it looked quite differently. Milton Ward testified that he never drank liquor, and claimed that when he chased his crazy brother Henry with the carving-knife, the latter had drawn a pistol upon him. Charles' testimony was mainly an explanation of his business failure. With this testimony the contestants closed their case, and after a little comparatively unimportant testimony from the other side, the arguments of counsel were begun. Both sides have submitted numerous requests to charge, and these will be argued before the argument to the jury begins.

The banks report continued good feeling, and a fair line of deposits, with a tolerable demand for discounts. All have loanable funds in excess of the demand, and the outlook for the Winter, from a banking standpoint, is one of activity so far as deposits are concerned, and of moderate demand for loans. The banks are doing sufficiently well to be in an agreeable mood, and feel that they should be satisfied with the amount of business being transacted. The elections are regarded as promising increased activity in business, and a better outlook for the future, because of the assurance of Republican ascendency it gives. It will impart more of confidence to business circles, and thus will do much to revive business.

The holders of the 3.65 bonds of the District of Columbia have been most persistent to have them recognized as United States Securities, not only so by the authorities at Washington but by the Stock Exchanges of the large cities. The question of the character of these bonds has been frequently discussed, and it is pretty certain to command further attention, although the Tribune says: "there is no doubt in any reasonable man' mind that they are not United States bonds at all, but simply what their face declares them to be, obligations of the Government of the District of Columbia. Being such, the kind of money in which the principal and interest are to be paid depends upon the intention of Congress in authorizing their issue, and that certainly was that they should be payable in the current money of the United States, whatever the current money might be at the time. But if they are recognized as United States bonds, then under the act of 1869, pledging the faith of the nation to the payment in coin or its equivalent of all obligations of the United States not expressly made payable in some other currency, the holders can demand interest and principal in gold."

The Comptroller of the Currency at Washington Monday was in receipt of a telegram from the President of the National Gold Bank and Trust Company of San Francisco officially informing him that it has gone into voluntary liquidation under the provisions of the National Bank act.

The Guarantee Trust and Safe Deposit Company gives notice that it will pay on demand to the holders of the stock of the Northwestern Equipment Trust of Philadelphia a semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent.

NEW YORK, November 3, 1875.

The customs receipts were $376,000. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $662,000. The clearings were $48,000,000. Sterling was firm at 478@485 1-2. Money in late dealings became very active, and in the flurry incident to it, loans were made as high as 7 per cent. gold. At the close, however, the quotation was 4@5, the reaction being as sudden as the advance. Gold declined from 115 7-8 to 115, recovered to 115 1-2, and closed at 115 1-8. The rates paid for carrying were 1, 2, 3, 3 1-2@4 per cent. Loans were also made flat. Government bonds closed firm. Railroad bonds were firm this afternoon. The largest transactions were in Union Pacific firsts, which sold at 101 1-2. Union Pacific land grants sold at 96@96 1-2, sinking funds at 85 3-4, Lake Shore consolidated registered firsts at 101, Western Pacifics at 96, and Cleveland & Pittsburgh consolidated sinking funds at 104 1-2. Chicago & Northwestern consolidated coupon gold bonds were active at 87 1-2. State bonds were quiet.

The stock market was firm and advanced in early dealings. The greatest improvement was in Northwest and St. Paul, which was attributed to the result of the election in Wisconsin. Northwest common rose from 37½ to 38½, and preferred from 52 to 52½, St. Paul from 34⅜ to 35¼, and preferred from 62⅞ to 63¼. Lake Shore fell off to 61⅞, and advanced to 62⅜. Erie declined from 18 to 17½, and afterwards recovered. Union Pacific advanced to 65⅞@66. Western Union fell off to 73⅞, advanced to 76½, and declined to 75⅝. Pacific Mail ranged from 40⅛ to 40⅞. Missouri Pacific declined to 10 and advanced to 11. At the second call the market was quiet, with prices about midway between the two extremes. Later stocks were firm, but towards the close lower, in sympathy with the flurry in the money market, and closed dull, with a fractional recovery. Michigan Central fell to 62, Lake Shore to 61⅞, Pacific Mail to 40 1-8, Western Union to 75½, Northwest to 37⅞, St. Paul to 34⅞, Erie to 17½, and Union Pacific to 65⅜. C. C. & I. C. rose from 4½ to 5⅜, with the last sales at 5 3-8. The transactions on the Stock Exchange aggregated 119,000 shares, of which 13,400 were Erie, 52,000 Lake Shore, 5,200 Northwestern, 1,250 Rock Island, 12,500 Pacific Mail, 3,100 St. Paul, 18,800 Western Union, and 3,570 C. Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

DAILY REPORT OF PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, November 3, 1875.

The leading merchandise markets continue rather sluggish, although about all that can be expected; the demand for goods of all kinds continues light, restricted to supplying immediate necessities, while as regards values there have been no important changes for some days. It is hoped now, as the fall elections are all over, that the agitation of the currency question will be dropped, and, if so, business will doubtless revive.

APPLES—Continue to come forward freely, and with the supply accumulating, the market is easier, although prices are not quotably lower; selling at $3a3,50 per bbl. for fair to good, and $4a4,50 for prime to choice.

BUTTER—There is no improvement to report in the demand, and prices are weak, with the supply, especially of common and medium stock, accumulating. Prime to choice rolls, 25a27c; extra creamery, 29a30c; fair to good solid packed, 15a20c.

BEANS—Mediums, quoted, in a jobbing way, at $1,75a1,80; and navies, at $1,90a2.

CHEESE—The market is easy, but unchanged; prime Ohio Factory, 13½a14c for August, and 14a14½c for September make. New York Goshen, 15c.

CRANBERRIES—$10a11 per barrel.

EGGS—The market is pretty well stocked with pickled, but fresh, guaranteed as such, are scarce; the former may be quoted at 20a25c, and the latter at 27a28c.

FLOUR—Is still reported quiet and unchanged. Old red winter wheat, $7,00a7,25; new ditto, $6,50a7,00; old spring wheat, $7a7,25; new ditto, $6,50a7. Rye Flour, $5,50a5,75. Buckwheat, 2½a3c per pound.

GROCERIES—Coffee continues dull and weak, and the latest and most reliable advices from the seaboard indicate a lower range of prices. The stock in first hands is steadily accumulating; the west is buying very sparingly, and some operators are beginning to doubt the correctness of the reports of a short crop. Molasses, etc., etc quiet and unchanged.

GRAIN—There is little to report that is important in connection with the grain trade; business continues dull, stocks are accumulating, and prices are weak but unchanged. Prime to choice new crop, red Wheat, $1,30a1,35; ditto old, $1,40a1,45; ditto new white, $1,35a1,40. There is a fair demand for good stock, but sprouty wheat, of which there is a good deal offering, is hard to dispose of—millers appear to have about all they want of this character. The Oat market continues dull; quotable at 38a40c for Pennsylvania and Ohio mixed and 41a42c for white. Shelled Corn is reported dull; quoted at 64a66c on track, and ear at 68a70c. The receipts of Ear have been light for some days past, hence it is holding its own better than shelled. Rye 85a90c; and dull. Barley quoted at from $1a1,25.

HAY—Baled continues dull, but unchanged; $12a14 for prarie and $16a18 for timothy.

POTATOES—Peerless and Early Rose, quoted at 28a30c on track, and Peach Blows at 38a40c. Jersey Sweets, $3a3,25 per bushel.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1875.

ARRIVALS.

Following shows the arrivals for the week ending at noon to-day and to afford a comparison we appened those of last week also:

	This week.	Last week.
Cattle	464 cars.	431 cars.
Hogs	178 "	209 "
Sheep	49 "	69 "
Total	691 "	709 "

Briggs, Dock & Drum, Wholesale Dealers and Commission Merchants for the sale of Live Stock, at the Central Stock Yards, East Liberty, repott as follows:

CATTLE.

The run, as will be seen, was somewhat larger than during the preceding week, and we might add larger than was expected, in view of the fact that the annual fall elections took place in several of the States on Tuesday, which it was thought would have a tendency to cut down the receipts. Of the 464 cars reported for the week, 240 cars were through consignments and 224 cars local or yard cattle. It is worthy of notice that there was an improvement in the average quality, the proportion of good heavy cattle being considerably larger than usual, and with a diminished demand the market for this particular grade of cattle was the worst of the season. Stockers and good feeding cattle, however, brought almost, if not altogether as much as last week, although the market was a little slow, as the attendance of buyers was not quite so large at it has been. There was a drove of choice beeves sold at 6¼, fully as good as those for which 6½c was paid last week, and 6¼ may now be regarded as the top of the market, showing a decline of 25c per cwt.

The advices from the east continue unfavorable; it is said that the great proportion of the cattle bought here and shipped to New York and Philadelbhia have been losing money for some time past, and the consequence is both Philadelphia and New York buyers are bearish, buying sparingly, notwithstanding prices are lower than they have been this year. The best evidence of this is that, in the face of the decline, the sales only aggregated 1,752 head, against 2,474 last week; the trouble is, the tendency of all the leading markets has been downward for some time past, and buyers, being apprehensive of a still further shrinkage, are not buying as freely as they would if it were otherwise.

QUOTATIONS.

Prime 1,400a1,500 steers	5,75a6,25
Good 1,200a1,300 steers	5,25a5,50
Fair 1,000a1,100 steers	4,50a5,00

Texans, as per quality	3,50a4,25
Cows, Stags and Bulls	3.00a4,00

HOGS.

From the date of our last report (this day week) up until Friday morning, there was no quotable change; on the day named, prices dropped 10 to 15 cents per cwt., after which there was no addition change during the balance of the weak. On Monday the supply of Yorkers was scarcely equal to the demand, and prices were advanced from 20 to 25 cents per cwt.; on the other hand, the offerings of Philadelphia hogs were ample, and there was no improvement. On Tuesday the market was pretty much the same as that of Monday, with the exception that York buyers held off, while Philadelphia tops sold more readily. Wednesday—the receipts of Yorkers being quite liberal, the market opened slow, and before noon holders were compelled to submit to a decline of 10 to 20 cents per cwt.; but Philadelphia hogs, the supply of which was scarcely equal to the demand, ruled firmer, although not quotably higher.

QUOTATIONS.

Philadelphia hogs	$8,00@8,25
Smooth, Cornfed Yorkers,	7,50@7,65
Coarse, Heavy and Grassers	7.00@7,40
Roughs	6,00@6,50

SHEEP.

On Monday and Tuesday the run was light, and as the supply was scarcely equal to the demand, prices were advanced fully 25 cents per cwt. To-day there was an increased attendance of buyers, and while the supply was larger the advance was maintained, and as we close our report, there are very few remaining in the pens unsold. The falling off in the arrivals may be attributed to shippers being impressed with the belief that as the election would take place in Pennsylvania and New York, this week, there would be a very slim attendance of buyers.

QUOTATIONS.

BRIGGS, DOCK & DRUM.

Chicago Breadstuff's Market

was dull. There was a better inquiry for shipment early, but buyers generally demand rather larger concessions than holders were prepared to make. Hence the market was tame, and ruled easier after the decline in wheat was known. The stock in this city yesterday aggregated 44,238 bbls. against 35,375 on October 1, 1875; 55,575 on November 1, 1874; and 35,440 on November 1, 1873. Sales were reported of 400 barrels winters at $5a6, the inside for unsound; 1,600 barrels spring extras at $5a5,90, and 25 barrels of rye flour on private terms. Total, 2,025 barrels. The market closed with the following as the range of prices: Choice winter extras, $7a8; common to good do., $5,75a6,75; choice spring extras, $5,50a6; fair do. shipping grades, $5a5,50; Minnesota, $6a7; patent springs, $6,75a8,50; spring superfines, $3,75a4,50; rye flour, $4,15a4,30; new buckwheat do, $6,50a7. Bran was active and very irregular. Sales were 80 tons at $12a13, and 10 tons from winter wheat at $13,25. Corn meal—Sales were 10 tons coarse at $20,50 on track. Shorts—Sales were 10 tons at $14,50 free on board. Middlings—Sales were 10 tons at $14,50 free on board cars.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, November 3, 1875.

Trade continues unsatisfactory and dull, but an early improvement is not improbable; it is not likely that the market will continue in it present condition much longer, especially at this season of the year. Crude as compared with yesterday, was without quotable change in price; barge oil was reported as having been offered at $1,75, which is 15 to 20 cents per barrel cheaper than the cost by rail, but then it should be borne in mind that there is no rebate allowed by the railroad on refined, except the crude used in the manufacture of the same, was transported by the A. V. R. R. Co. Refined continues very quite; quoted at 10a10¼c on cars here, with but very few sellers.

The advance in the rate of freight on refined from here to the seaboard is equal to about 14½c per barrel, as in addition to the increased cost of freight of 13c per barrel the rebate has been reduced sufficiently to make up the difference.

The Barrel market continues very dull, but prices remain as last quoted; countries, $1,20a1,30; city make, ordinary at $1,40.

O. Carter, same cause; Nicholas Byrnes, license as engineer revoked for intoxication; license of Captains John R. Williams and Grandison Hill were suspended for four months—cause, negligence and inattention to their duties.

A ST. LOUIS dispatch, under date of 1st, reports as follows: Capt. J. J. Darragh left for Cincinnati this evening. The Kate Kinney arrived from below this morning, and was taken out on the docks. She has seventy timbers broken, and it will require four days to repair her, after which she leaves for the South to deliver her cargo, damaged and otherwise. The E. H. Durfee came in from Bismarck, and leaves for Cincinnati on Wednesday. R. C. Mason is in command. Business active. The Susie Silver is aground at Horsetail, where there is only 5 feet of water.

A MEMPHIS dispatch, under date of 1st, says: Nearly 3,000 bales of cotton were brought in by the local packets since yesterday. The Thompson Dean passed the mouth of White river with 2,100 bales on board, and the Howard went down several hours behind her with 4,150 bales, over three-fourths of which she took on at Helena. The Maumelle carried 648 bales of cotton out of Arkansas last Thursday, reshipped, and turned back to Pine Bluff from the mouth of Small river. The steamer Ida Stockton is to ply during low water from Pine Bluff out. The stern-wheel John Howard passed into White river, going up, last Friday morning. The John B. Maude, is coming up on one wheel, having broken a cylinder head ten miles below Vicksburg; she expect to repair and return on good time without losing a trip.

HOME NEWS.

The Real Estate Savings Bank.

We publish elsewhere a statement of the condition of this institution November 1st, 1875, which is, in all respects, a perfectly healthy exhibit, and highly creditable to those who manage the financial helm of this bank. The Real Estate Savings Bank has ever found favor with business men and depositors, not only because its affairs are managed with the utmost prudence and honesty, but because its charter gives the assurance of reliability by restricting investments of deposits to first liens on real estate within the Commonwealth, or in United States and Pennsylvania State bonds. Interest paid to depositors semi-annually, and compounded if not drawn.

An Agreeable Surprise.

About two o'clock yesterday afternoon, Thomas Steele, Esq., Collector of Customs of this city, presented Dr. J. H. O'Brien, of the Twenty-fifth ward, with an elegant set of silverware, the cups of which were engraved with the Doctor's monogram, and the plate contained the following inscription, "Presented to Dr. J. H. O'Brien by Thomas Steele, Esq., as a memento of fraternal friendship existing between them." The affair was a very pleasant one, inasmuch as the Doctor was ignorant of what was to take place. It is unnecessary to state that the Dr. was as delighted with his beautiful gift as was the giver. The Doctor, with but one or two exceptions, is the oldest physician practicing about the city—and as the gift was given as a recognition of his sterling worth and professional services, he may justly feel proud of it.

THE ELECTIONS.

Figuring Up—The Majority for the State Ticket—The Sheriffalty Contest—Fife's Majority About 1,000.

The result of the elections was the general topic of interest yesterday. Republicans were jubilant, Democrats in sackcloth and ashes. Every return that came in to headquarters was eagerly caught up, but the figures told the same story of the signal Republican success. The returns came in to the Prothonotary's office, sealed up in the ballot boxes, but there were duplicate tally sheets with them, and from these the figures were taken.

The figures seem to indicate that the majority for Hartranft will reach about 5,000, and the majority on the county ticket, save perhaps in the case of the, Sheriff will be from 2,500 to 4,000, some of the candidates having suffered "scratching" through unfair prejudice.

On the Sheriffalty contest Fife come out ahead, with enough to spare to give him—all things considered—a handsome majority. The returns received at the Prothonotary's office up to ten o'clock last night, showed Fife to have a majority over Patterson of 957, with the following districts to hear from: Sewickley borough, Sewickley township, Elizabeth borough, Franklin township, Findley township, Indiana township, North Versailles township, North Fayette township, Pine township, Shaler township, second precinct, Upper St. Clair township. In 1872 these districts gave Hartranft 1,144 votes, and Buckalew 830 votes—leaving a Republican majority of 314. Giving Fife and Patterson the same relative vote, this would increase Fife's majority to over 1,200. Patterson's friends, however, claim that, on account of there being two other candidates in the field, Fife will not get more than 100 majority in these districts. Conceding this to be the case, and allowing Patterson all he claims, Fife's majority would still be over 1,000. We believe it will not fall any under these figures.

This result on the Sheriffalty was a signal triumph for Mr. Fife. It should be borne in mind that there was a combination against him, and he was betrayed by Republican politicians, some of whom worked quietly against him, and others openly, at the polls all day long. Then the opposition used money freely, and traded anything and everything to defeat him. Laboring under such a weight, it is marvelous that he pulled through. Nothing but his high character as an honest, straightforward man saved him, and his success is a fitting compliment to his sterling worth as a man and a public officer, who has been tried and has proved efficient and faithful.

The result in the county is eminently satisfactory.

The return Judges will meet on Friday, when the official vote will be opened and counted.

BREVITIES.

Paragraphic Pencilings of Passing Events.

····Street and Road Commissioners are opposed to the proposed re-districting of the city for street purposes. It reduces their number from nine to five.

····Dr. Langfitt, of Allegheny, and Alex. Gray, an officer in the Western Penitentiary, were robbed at Lafayette Hall on Tuesday night, of valuable watches.

····The marriage ceremony was performed by the Mayor yesterday for the benefit of Adam Hartman and Annie Wiggin. It saved a law suit and was a short way out of trouble.

····Lieutenants Tyre, Hagar and Cochran, with a detail of police, pulled the house at No. 128 Third avenue, between eleven and twelve o'clock last night. Six or seven women and four or five men were arrested.

····A new ordinance dividing the city into five instead of four street districts, and locating two of them on the South Side, was affirmatively recommended to Councils at the meeting of the Street Committee last night.

····A man named Miller was brought from Brookville last night by a U. S. Marshal, and lodged in the Central Station, on a charge of robbing the mail. He will have a hearing to-day before the U. S. Commissioner.

····Mr. Adam McClure and Mr. Whitsett of West Middleton, Washington county, were out hunting on Monday morning last, when by an accident Mr. McClure was shot in the face by Mr. Whitsett. The wounds are not dangerous, but will disfigure Mr. McClure's face.

····The Central Police Station last night afforded several hours accommodation to Wm. Lyall, who was being taken to Cincinnati to answer complaints there made against him of obtaining cattle on forged orders and passing bogus checks. He was in charge of a Deputy Sheriff, who left with him at two o'clock this morning.

·····When Mayor McCarthy went to vote on Tuesday in the Eleventh ward, he was challenged on the ground that he was not naturalized, by a person who had been before him a day or two previous on a charge of maintaining a nuisance. He was obliged to prove his citizenship, notwithstanding the fact that he was born in Pittsburgh.

····Persons living in the Eleventh ward, and that vicinity, who have occasion to be out at nights run risks of making too intimate acquaintance with fences, posts and mud holes for the cultivation of a serene and placid temper. The street lamps are placed very wide apart—to prevent them from quarreling; and the gas supplied them is very limited—to prevent the lights and the posts being seen.

····The Road Committee met yesterday afternoon, but it did not have much business for consideration. The district pay rolls, the first amounting to $340.06, the second to $803 22, and the third to $864.58, were approved and ordered to be paid. The Commissioner of the Third district was directed to stop the expenditure of money, for the reason that the appropriation is tapering down pretty fine.

····The Lunch and Supper, gotten up by the ladies of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, for the benefit of the charities of the parish, come off to-day (Thursday), in the Sunday School room. The lunch will be served from 12 M. till 2 P. M., and the supper from 6 P. M. till 10 P. M. Everything to tempt the appetite of the most fastidious has been provided, and all are cordially invited to the feast of good things and thereby aid the benefactions of the church.

····The Connellsville Railroad, as stated by us yesterday, has declined to carry any more freight for the Adams Express Company unless the rate of compensation is increased. The Express Company have refused to pay more than they have been paying and, accordingly, when the contract between these two corporations expired, on the 1st inst., the mutual arrangement between them was discontinued. It is likely, unless some new agreement is made, that the Railroad Company will now transport its own express matter.

····The Young Woman's Boarding Home had a fine time of it on Tuesday evening—the gathering of friends was such that the spacious building would scarcely contain them. We were glad to notice how large a per centage of the the throng consisted of ladies and gentlemen of the highest social character. An institute with such friends and so numerous must surely be a meritorious one. The entertainment consisted of music—vocal and instrumental. We would like to be at liberty to name the ladies who electrified the audience with soul stirring songs. Besides music there was a large contribution of pound packages, neatly done up, and designated by quaint and funny inscriptions, intended not to reveal, but rather to conceal the nature of the contents. Of these packages about a cart load were disposed of at auction. The purchasers and the company around were moved to hearty laughter when the contents of the several packages came to be known. We did not learn the amount of pecuniary aid to the Home that resulted. It must have been considerable. The evening, we know, passed very pleasantly to all the company, and we hope the hearts of the lady managers who labor so zealously and gratuitously for the necessitous of their sex have been greatly cheered.

PERSONAL.

Mr. W. D. Moore will lecture on Friday evening, at Klopfer's Hall, in Lawrenceville, on "The Moral Teaching of Macbeth." The receipts are to be devoted to the Lawrenceville Industrial school.

Among the live men interested in displays at the Exposition is Mr. Henry Prentice Sanger, the General Agent for the Knowles Steam Pump. Mr. S. is a courteous gentleman who not only thoroughly understands his business, and is alert and always around where he can do the most good, but is withal a very intelligent and affable companion, with whom it is a pleasure either to associate or transact business.

THE EXPOSITION.

Notes of Matters Around the Exposition Yesterday.

The weather was abominable yesterday, but the doors of the Exposition were thrown open as usual and there was a fair attendance—an attendance which, in point of numbers, was really a surprise to everyone connected with the show. This turning out of the people indicates that the interest in the Exposition is still maintained. A pressure has been made in some quarters to induce the managers to hold over for a week longer, and, although no definite conclusion has been announced, it is thought that if the weather is at all favorable, it will be kept open until Saturday of next week.

A BIG LUMP.

A lump of coal has just arrived from Fox's mine, near Temperanceville, which weighs 10,000 pound. It was badly shattered while on the way over, and will be gently deposited near Power Hall.

COLLEGE DELEGATION.

Among the many who defied the elements to visit the Exposition yesterday were some seventy young ladies of the Pennsylvania Female College. Dr. Strong and his bevy of beauties were evidently delighted with all they saw, and with the treasures of the Art Gallery in particular.

PITTSBURGH WORK.

One of the most important facts connected with the Exposition is that it has shown, as no other display ever did before, what our Pittsburgh workmen can produce in all the departments of manufacture. The work put on exhibition by our citizens demonstrates that they have no superiors, and that they can produce as good an article as can be had in the world. Take for instance the splendid display made by Messrs. Joseph Meyer & Son, of Nos. 412 & 414 Penn avenue. The collection consists of chairs of various makes and patterns; a very fine secretary and sideboard in oiled and polished walnut, the latter traced with gold. A bedstead, bureau and wardrobe, the latter furnished with magnificent plate glass mirrors, and some other pieces of furniture, suitable to the boudoir and chamber. The collection is remarkably complete and as fine as any in the building. This firm is a very reliable one, and the work they put up is the best that seasoned wood and good workmanship can produce.

FINE SWEETMEATS.

Every man, woman and child with a "sweet tooth"—and who has not the molar—who visits the Exposition, is invariably drawn to the display of fine confectionery made by Messrs. Reymer & Bro. of Nos. 126, 128 and 130 Wood street. This is a display of fine French and plain confectionery which is enough to make the mouth of an epicure water. It comprises a choice collection of almond pastes, preparations of the pistachio, fine chocolates, among which filbert parlines are most prominent, cream fruits and imitation fruits true in point of flavor and good representations of different fruits, such as strawberries, raspberries and cherries, crystalized and glace fruits with nouget and invitation flowers. The flavoring of the fruits is perfectly pure and gives them a taste very closely resembling those produced by nature. Their plain candies, which are to be found in great profusion, are noted for their strict purity and the harmlessness of their coloring and their power of resisting the action of the atmosphere. Jelly confections are likewise shown in considerable variety.

MUSIC.

One feature of the Exposition has been especially attractive and that has been the abundant supply of music. The band does a great deal of tooting, and during the intervals the melody comes from the different music stands. Especially is this the case in the neighborhood where Messrs. Mellor & Hoene, of No. 79 Fifth avenue, hold forth. They have the magnificent Chickerings, and every time these are touched a volume of melody rolls out—clear, sonorous and strong—that wakes the echoes all around. Then for those who desire sacred music the Mason & Hamlin Organs are opened, and the strain of melody is varied. Then there are other pianos, such as the Hazelton, the Kranich & Bach, &c., all of which are good, and come considerably cheaper in price. Messrs. Mellor & Hoene have musical instruments to suit the million, and there is no house in the city where a purchaser can get a better instrument or more courteous treatment.

FLOWERS.

Yesterday was the seventh floral day. The only first premium offered was awarded to Messrs. J. R. & A. Murdoch for the best display of Loose Floral Work. Among other pieces we noticed a large Floral Stand designed for the center of a supper table. Stars, Globes, Baskets, Boston Bud Boquets, all composed of the choicest flowers and arranged with exquisite skill.

THE USEFUL ARTS.

When we speak of the useful arts we mean those which are developed for the express purpose of adding comfort to the every-day life of men and women. One branch of this is that devoted to the manufacture of carpets, and in none has there been a greater advance during the last few years. Carpets now-a-days are made almost as beautiful as oil paintings, and there is a similar regard for harmony of colors. To prove this we need only refer to the display made on the Exposition dining hall, east end, by Messrs. D. & F. S. Welty, of Nos. 115 and 117 Federal street, Allegheny. These goods are marvels of beauty in design and finish, and yet they are remarkably cheap in price. They are fair samples of the stock always kept in store by this popular Carpet house.

A TIMELY TOPIC.

A Word to Boot and Shoe Dealers.

It strikes us that the present is a very good time to call the attention of dealers in boots and shoes to a matter that, if borne in mind, will be greatly to their interest. We refer to the fact that the time-honored and representative wholesale boot and shoe house of Gill & Bro. is now fully "stocked up" for the fall trade, and is prepared to offer special inducements to purchasers. This house has long been known in the trade as one of the best wholesale establishments of the kind to be found either East or West, and when we say that it was never in better condition to offer bargains to the trade, and never had a better stock in store than now, all dealers will understand the rare advantages in store for them.

The house makes specialties of several lines of goods. Among them is the celebrated Fort Pitt Chicago kip boot, made for winter wear. It is a handsome boot, with a saddle side seam, double or half double sole, top sole, wire quilted sole, and short or long legs, as may be desired. It is made up for men, youths or boys, is manufactured with great care, and is a superior boot for out-door walking in winter weather. Then there is the Buffalo hand made calf or kip boot, all made by hand and specially adapted for men's wear—nothing but men's sizes being made. It is a saddle seam boot of fine proportions and very comfortable. Another and finer style is the Erie fine kip boot for men, youths and boys' wear. It is made of the best material, with saddle seam, any kind of sole, and is gotten up in exceedingly neat style. The house also has on hand, in addition to these three special styles, a full line of other kinds of boots, and all ranging in price from the highest rates down to the lowest, according to material and make-up.

In the shoe line the house has a very full assortment of men's, youths' and boys brogans, with and without hob-nails, and made especially for miners, millmen and others who are engaged in a similar kind of work. These brogans are very popular among workingmen, as they are comparatively cheap and give excellent service.

In the department devoted to women's, misses' and children's shoes there is a full line of Philadelphia manufactures, comprising Goat, Morrocco and lasting goods, very handsomely made up. The stock embraces all grades from the most costly to the cheapest. There is also in this department a very large assortment of women's, misses' and children's pegged boots and shoes of calf, "A" Calf, Buff, Kip, Pebble grained, and Goat, ranging from the very best in material, style and price down to the ordinary and cheapest grades. Then there are infants shoes from fine to heavy kinds, with silver tips. In the line of gum goods there are men, women and children's boots and shoes, lined with wool and cotton. The house makes a specialty of this class of goods, and can sell them at the lowest factory prices.

It would be impossible, however, to enumerate all the stock, but in brief it contains everything in the wholesale boot and shoe line and at every price. The house is one of the largest in the west, being four stories high, and it is filled from cellar to roof with the fresh goods. It is located at No. 253 Liberty street, at the head of Wood and within easy reach of all the depots.

Messrs. Gill & Bro. have ample capital and all the facilities for doing an immense trade, and accommodating their customers with the most liberal terms. They are reliable in every way, and we know of no house which it gives us greater pleasure to recommend. We know our friends in this line of trade cannot do better, either in goods or prices, and we would advise them to make special note of the number and call at the house whenever they want a good and cheap lot of boots and shoes.

Court Brevities.

JUDGE WHITE yesterday took occasion to deliver a lecture upon the habit of fast young men in driving livery horses as if the animals were steam engines, that never tire, instead of flesh and blood, which they are, and, like all animate nature, liable to become exhausted when pushed beyond the limits of endurance. The occasion of the remarks was the trial of a young man under the livery act for having driven a horse until it dropped dead.

These young men, he said, are liable, it is true, to the owners of the animals by civil action for all the damages they do, but unfortunately in the most of these cases, even if suit is entered against these young men, the livery keepers get a judgment and that is all it amounts to, as they are unable to pay it. Hence it is proper that they should be liable to criminal prosecution. And in this opinion every person of sense heartily coincides with Judge White.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

Last night Miss Minnie Palmer interpreted the role of "The Mysterious Stranger," in the French play of "Satan in Paris," appearing in six different characters with songs and dances. Her ability and versatility were displayed to considerably more purpose than in the play in which she opened. She is a charming little actress, and deserves good patronage. The bill of last evening will be repeated tonight.

Barry Sullivan commences a week's engagement next Monday evening, opening in "Richelieu." Reserved seats will be on sale at the box office to-morrow.

Mdlle Terese Titiens.

This famous dramatic cantatrice, who only arrived in this country on September 25th, will appear in this city in two of her unapproachable concerts on Thursday and Friday evenings, the 18th and 19th inst. She will be supported by Mme. Arabella Goddard, pianiste, Mr. Alexander Bishoff, tenor, Signor Orlandini, baritone, Mr. Sauret, the celebrated violin virtuoso, and Signor Marzo, musical director and conductor. These concerts, which will be given under the auspices of Max Strakosch, will be the only opportunities for the musical public of this city to hear Titiens and those who accompany her.

Beamer's Benefit.

The dramatic and musical entertainment to be given at Library Hall to morrow evening as a complimentary benefit to Mr. V. E. Beamer will be one of the chief events of the amusement season in this city. An unusually choice programme has been arranged and there is every indication that the performance will draw an audience that will fully meet the expectations of those interested in the affair.

Trimble's Varieties.

The array of artistic talent presented by Mr. Aims this week is of a character that secures the degree of success which the members of his company certainly merit. The entertainments he gives are not marked by paucity in the number or ability of actors, and the result is that his house and coffers are always full.

Musical and Dramatic.

OLE BULL has been giving concerts in Stockholm recently. He is about to make a farewell tour of Europe.

MISS ANNIE LOUISE CAREY has created a perfect furore in Russia. She is called out at the rate of ten times in an evening.

TENNYSON'S drama, "Queen Mary," would take ten hours of continuous acting on the stage, if produced as he has written it.

MRS. WALLER returns to the stage this season. She is a good, but not very youthful, actress, and will make her re-entry in San Francisco.

LISZT has offered his services to Mme. Patti on the occasion of the benefit which that distinguished lady is going to give for the sufferers by the late inundation in France.

LOUISE HERBERT, the English actress who came to this country with Barry Sullivan, as his leading lady, found the criticisms of the American press too much for her, and has gone home.

MISS CLARA LOUISA KELLOGG was in Hartford, Conn., on Saturday, and, desiring to visit friends in Providence, R. I., she engaged a special train at a cost of $150 to take her to that city, that being her only means of getting there, and also meeting her engagements in Boston on Monday.

Turkish Baths.
It is an oft repeated remark that cleaniness is akin to godliness, which is about as much as to say that a pure soul can only exist in a pure, chaste and cleanly body. And as expressed by others, even from the body's purity the mind receives a secret sympathetic aid. This is authority sufficient to warrant frequent ablutions, which may be had in Oriental perfection at No. 80 Diamond street, where a reputable company has opened a first-class bath-house, with all necessary appurtenances and attendants. Tickets for Turkish, Roman or common baths to be had at the office and at the principal hotels.

Steamship Arrivals Yesterday.

Dispatches received at Max Schamberg's European Steamship, Exchange and Telegraph Office, at 163 Smithfield street, announce the arrival of the steamer Main, at Southampton; steamer Pommerania, at New York; steamer Amerique, at New York; steamer Maas, at New York; steamer Erin, at Queenstown; steamer The Queen, at Queenstown; steamer Scythia, at Queenstown; steamer Caspian, at Baltimore; steamer Klapstock, at Plymouth; steamer City of Chester, at Liverpool; steamer State of Virginia, at Glasgow; steamer State of Georgia, at Greenock.

THE STREET DEPARTMENT.

A New Ordinance for the Division of the City Into Street Districts—Two Allowed the South Side—Bills Recommended to Councils, &c.

The Street Committee held a regular meeting last night in the Common Council chamber, Mr. W. W. Thompson in the chair.

The reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was dispensed with.

The following pay rolls were approved for the month of October:

First District	$2,154 47
Second "	1,439 29
Third "	1,019 41
Fifth "	876 04
Sixth "	703 84
Seventh "	629 09
Engineer.s pay roll	980 08
Board of Viewers	505 00
Total	$8,327 24

The report of the sub-committee adverse to any change of grade on Thirty-fifth street was received and filed and the committee discharged.

An ordinance re-districting the city for street purposes, similar to the one which was defeated in Select Council a week or so ago, was read by the chairman. It divides the city into five districts, three of which are between the rivers and two on the South Side. An amendment offered by Dr. Kerr was adopted requiring the City Engineer, who is given supervisory power over the Commissioners, to report quarterly instead of monthly to the Street Committee regarding the condition of the streets, after which Mr. Metzgar moved that the entire South Side comprise one district instead of two. Messrs. Dannals and Jeremy were opposed to any decrease in the number of Commissioners at all. They were rather more in favor of increasing the number as, in their opinion, the extent of the city demands it. The South Side members said they would vote against the ordinance if they were allowed but one Commissioner. Motions to refer it to a special committee and to lay Mr. Metzgar's amendment on the table were both lost. After considerable debate on the matter Mr. McClurg moved that the ordinance be indefinitely postponed. The ayes and nays were called and it was lost by a vote of 13 to 9. A vote was then taken on Mr. Metzgar's amendment and it was lost also, after which the bill was affirmatively recommended to Councils.

Mr. Boucher called up an ordinance for the repeal of an ordinance authorizing the opening of Grandview avenue, from Washington to Sherman streets, and it provoked another dry discussion. This Grandview avenue matter has been before Councils for years, but for several months past our reporter had heard nothing of it, and he had almost arrived at the conclusion that it had been disposed of finally, but it proved after all to be only in a quiescent state. All it required was a little poking to bring it forward in all its pristine freshness and vigor. The ordinance was affirmatively recommended to Councils.

A petition of citizens for permission to lay a private sewer on Eleventh and Bradford streets, South Side, and a similar one from C. Olnhausen, were referred to the Street Commissioner. The petition for the change of grade of Cliff street, in the Eleventh ward, was given in charge of a sub-committee. A petition for a remonstrance against the location and opening of an alley between Kirkpatrick and Lowan streets, in the Thirty-second ward, were referred to the Survey Committee.

Mr. Finnerty presented resolutions providing for the advertising for proposals for the building of an approach to Liberty avenue, from Thirty-second to Thirty-third streets, in accordance with the resolution of Councils, and for proposals for the construction of a bridge over Two Mile Run, on Laurel avenue. Both were adopted.

A resolution from Common Council, directing the Street Committee to investigate regarding the obstructions upon the streets of the city and submit a report, was adopted and Messrs. Metzgar, Dannals and Jeremy were appointed to take charge of the matter.

The assessments for the grading and paving of Garden alley, from Forty-second to Forty-fourth streets; Cliff street, from Cassatt to Ledlie streets, and Garden alley, from Main to Forty-second streets, were approved.

The following contracts were awarded: For the grading, paving and curbing of Magee street to Peter O'Neil; for the grading, paving and curbing of Sixth street, South Side, to Stoltzenbach, Pfeil & Co.; for the paving and curbing of Shingiss street to Hastings & O'Neil; for the grading, paving and curbing of Pearson's alley to C. Rote, and for the grading and paving of Church alley, between Sycamore and Bank streets, in the Fifteenth ward, to C. Rote also.

Ordinances were ordered and recommended for the following improvements: For the grading, paving and curbing of Twenty-eighth street, South Side, from Carson to Mary streets; for the opening of Mary street, South Side, between Twenty-seventh and Thirty-second streets; establishing the boundary lines of the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth wards; for board walk on Plane avenue from the line of the Thirty-first ward to Monastery avenue; granting the residents of Fifteenth street, Twenty-eighth ward, the privilege of laying at their own expense a sewer on that street, from Washington to Carson streets; for a brick sewer on Main street, South Side, from Carson street to the Ohio river, and for the grading and paving of an alley from Liberty avenue to a point six hundred feet westwardly.

Adjourned.

COMMON SENSE VS. PREJUDICE.

By R. V. Pierce, M. D., of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., Author of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," Etc., Etc.

I am aware that there is a popular, and not altogether unfounded, prejudice against "patent medicines," owing to the small amount of merit which many of them possess. The appellation "Patent Medicine," does not apply to my remedies, as no patent has ever been asked for or obtained upon them, nor have they been forced upon the public as "cure-alls." They are simply some favorite prescriptions, which, in a very extensive practice, have proved their superior remedial virtues in the cure of the diseases for which they are recommended. Every practicing physician has his favorite remedies, which he oftenest recommends or uses, because he has the greatest confidence in their virtues. The patient does not know their composition. Even prescriptions are usually written in a language unintelligible to any but the druggist. As much secrecy is employed as in the preparation of proprietary medicines. Does the fact that an article is prepared by a process known only to the manufacturer render that article less valuable? How many physicians know the elementary composition of the remedies which they employ, some of which have never been analyzed? Few practitioners know how Morphine, Quinine, Podophyllin, Leptandrin, Pepsin, or Chloroform, are made, or how nauseous drugs are transformed into palatable elixirs; yet they do not hesitate to employ them. Is it not inconsistent to use a prescription, the composition of which is unknown to us, and discard another preparation simply because it is accompanied by a printed statement of its properties with directions for its use?

Some persons, while admitting that my medicines are good pharmaceutical compounds, object to them on the ground that they are too often used with insufficient judgment. I propose to obviate this difficulty by enlightening the people as to the structure and functions of their bodies, the causes, character, and symptoms, of disease, and by indicating the proper and judicious employment of my medicines, together with such auxiliary treatment as may be necessary. Such is one of the designs of the People's Medical Adviser, forty thousand copies of which have already been published, and are sold at the exceedingly low price of $1.50, and sent (post-paid) to any address within the United States and Canada.

If you would patronize medicines, scientifically prepared, use my Family Medicines. Golden Medical Discovery is tonic, alterative, or blood cleansing, and an unequaled cough remedy; Pleasant Purgative Pellets, scarcely larger than mustard seed, constitute an agreeable and reliable physic; Favorite Prescription, a remedy for debilitated females; my Compound Extract of Smart-Weed, a magical remedy for pain, bowel complaints, and an unequaled Liniment for both human and horse-flesh; while Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is known the world over as the greatest specific for Catarrh and "Cold in the Head," ever given to the public.

These standard remedies have been before the public for many years—a period long enough to fully test their merits, and the best argument that can be advanced in their favor is the fact that their sale was never so great as during the past six months. TTHS&W

Marble Mantels
We have set up, for exhibition, in our show rooms, 319 and 321 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa., the largest variety, and the most beautiful stock of mantels in the city, which we will sell at prices to suit the times. We also manufacture and keep on hand, GRATES, GRATE FRONTS, AND FENDERS, made in neat style and finished in a handsome manner. Our new
is the latest and simplest improvement in the grate line. It is neat and efficient, and will clean out the ashes in two seconds, and do it thoroughly. The grate is so arranged that the fine dust is mostly carried up back of the grate, into the chimney, and not on fender or over the room. Our shaker is so constructed that it removes the ashes from the lower part of the grate, without disturbing the upper part of the fuel, thereby securing a more thorough combustion, and a greater amount of heat from the coal, than would otherwise be obtained.
Our grate and shaker are simple, and cost so little to fit them up, ready for use, that we can sell them at half the price that other shakers have been selling for.
Our grates are all warranted to give satisfaction.
N. B.—"As seeing is believing," purchasers are invited to call and examine our mantels and see our Pendulum grate in practical operation at 319 and 321, Liberty street, Pittsburgh.

The November number of the Penn Monthly, published by the Penn Monthly Association, Philadelphia, contains papers on Educational Reform and Reformers; Electric Fishes; Wasted Faculties; The Money Question; Blunders of Reform, and the South Kensington Museum. There are also notices of new publications, and a review of the events of the past month. The Penn is one of the most thoughtful and well edited of our American monthlies, and approximates very nearly in tone and style to the dignified quarterlies.

Reminiscence of William Pitt.

Curiously enough, a most interesting reminiscence of William Pitt has just come to light in London through the facinating pursuit of book collection. At a recent auction sale by Sotheby & Wilkinson an old and useless book was sold. The purchaser was fortunate enough to discover therein three old letters connected with the history of one of England's greatest statesmen. Pitt was once, it is well known, in such great difficulties that he accepted £1,000 to save his library from going into the hands of the bailiffs. The friend from whom he accepted the money was a man whom he had made and loaded with public honors. Pitt understood that the money was a gift; but after his death the friend made a claim for the sum, and received it from Pitt's representatives, who, though they knew there were in existence certain letters which might have defeated the claim, could not lay their hands upon them. These letters, three in number, have now come to light, and show that the money was really a gift, and that no claim for it on Pitt's heirs and successors should have been made.—Harper's Weekly.

DANBURY FAMILY SCENE.

An Only Son and the Funny Woman.

A family of some pretensions, living in Danbury, had a party of five to tea, one evening recently. The table was set out in fine style, as the company were from the city, and it was absolutely necessary to show them that folks may live in a village like Danbury, and yet understand the requirements of good society. When they were all at the table, and the lady was preparing to dish up the tea, her little son, whose face shone like the knees of a country clergyman's pants, pulled her secretly by the dress. But she was too busy to notice. He pulled her again, but receiving no response, he whispered:

"Ma ma!"

"What is it?"

"Ain't this one of Miss Perry's knives?" holding up the article in his hand and looking, as he properly should, very much gratified by such an evidence of his discernment.

She made no reply in words, but she gave him a look that was calculated to annihilate him.

The tea was dished out and the party were buttering their biscuit, when the youth suddenly whispered again, looking at his plate with a pleased expression, "Why, ma, my plate is different from the others."

"Thomas," she ejaculated, under her breath.

"Why, it is, ma," persisted Thomas. "Now, just see here. This plate has—"

"Thomas!" again ejaculated his mother, with crimsoned face, while his father assumed a frown nearly an inch thick, "if you don't let your victuals stop your mouth I'll send you from the table!"

This quieted Thomas at once. He was not a very particular boy, and he concluded that the difference in the plates was not of such moment as to admit of tedious argument at this time.

Several minutes passed without any further interruption. The young man industriously attended to his food, but at the same time kept a close eye on what was going on around him. He was lifting up his cup for a sip, when his glance unfortunately fell upon the saucer. It was but a glance, but with the keenness of a young eye he saw that the two were not originally designed for each other.

"Why, ma," he eagerly whispered, "this cup don't belong to—"

Then he suddenly stopped. The expression of his mother's face actually rendered him speechless, and for a moment he applied himself to his meal in depressed silence; but he was young and of an elastic temper, and he soon recovered his beaming expression. A little later he observed a lady opposite putting a spoon of preserved grapes in her mouth. Then he twitched his mother's dress and said again:

"Ma!"

The unhappy mother shivered at the sound, but his remark this time appeared to be on an entirely different subject, as he asked:

"Aint Miss Walker a funny woman?

"Funny?" said his mother, with a sigh of relief. And then turning to the company with the explanation. "Mrs. Walker is an old lady who lives across the way," she smiled on her hopeful son and asked, What makes you think she is funny?"

"Why, you know—you know," began Thomas in that rapid, moist way which an only son assumes when he is imparting information before company, in response to a cordial invitation, "when I went over there this afternoon to get the spoons, she said she hoped the company wouldn't bite 'em, as it would dent——"

"Thomas!" shrieked the unhappy mother, as soon as she could break in.

"Young man," gasped the father, "leave this table at once!"

And Thomas left at once. His father subsequently followed him, and the two met in a back room, and had both been flying express trains coming together, there could have scarcely been more noise.

Enfeebling Pursuits.
Nature intended that we should use our legs freely, and revenges herself upon those who constantly sit in their daily avocations indoors by depriving them of that robust health which usually falls to the share of those who labor on foot in the open air, and very frequently inflicts upon them diseases and premature infirmities which they might have avoided by a more active life. Persons who become enfeebled in consequence of sedentary habits or occupations cannot do better than to resort to a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a means of recovering lost strength. Nor should they postpone a recourse to this supreme tonic and preventive of physical decay longer than absolutely necessary, as weakness is too often the percursor of diseases. The Bitters are also invaluable as a remedy for dyspepsia, constipation, intermittent fever, urinary and rheumatic complaints.
